Somewhere Over the Rainbow

In the words of that popular Willie Nelson song, the skies really are blue — somewhere — over the rainbow. And like Dorothy, maybe it is all a dream, but each and every one needs a little fantasy in their lives, and we all need now and then to stop and wish upon a star. So let's live a little fantasy, dream a little dream, have fun and like the bluebirds in the song, let's fly — somewhere over the rainbow!

As we start our long journey toward the end of the rainbow, we are reminded that someday these will be looked upon by each of us as our most carefree and joyous years, for youth is and always has been looked upon as the time of our greatest innocence and trust. It is here that we look up to those who have gone before for the guidance and wisdom that shapes our lives. It is also a time of growth, anticipation, and hope. For in our eyes are reflected all of the tomorrows, dreams, hopes, and all of the rainbows to come. Let these years of our beginning be the best and most formative years of our lives.

1981-82 represents a landmark year for Fruitvale High School, for this year we are graduating our first Senior Class. But, in some ways, this year will be a landmark year for each of us, for gaining the level of a Senior High student represents both achievement and expectation. Achievement because we have grown from elementary through junior high and finally to high school. Some have even completed their high school days and now stand on the threshold of bright new vistas. For the rest of us, there is the expectation of football games on chilly nights, of bonfires and pep rallies, of dates and dances, of academic achievement and popularity, of sports and spotlights, of tears and joy, of sharing and finally the realization of the ultimate success — graduation. Here and on the following pages, we present ourselves — maturing and growing — as we enjoy these, our years at the top of the rainbow.

Guess Who?

You couldn't tell them apart even then.

I'll only drive in good weather

I was always a big kid.

Quite a model, huh?

We make quite a pair, don't we?

Anybody know me?

Whoa!

So many women, so little time.

I love my car.

Unh Unh, Mr. Reeves

I paid for three minutes, darn it.

What is the answer to no. 5?

I'm so proud of myself.

Aw, gee, Fred, flowers.

Chubby Cheeks

Quack, quack

Don't I look cute?

I want to join the Army.

Ain't I sweet?

What you say?

I did it, I did it!

Wow, that's neat!

Don't publish this!

They call me Stretch

I ate the whole thing.

Senior Will

We, the Senior Class of nineteen hundred and eighty-two, being of sound bodies and weak minds wish to bequeath, bewill, and generally get rid of items and other junk to the following people:

Donna: I wish to leave English IV to anyone who thinks they are big enough to handle it.

Susan Ruhter: I leave my locker to Terri F and all my books to whoever wants them.

Kathy: I leave Chris my parking, Kandy the bubblegum in my locker, and Sandra my baby powder and locker.

Susan: I leave my desk to Debbie and my civics book to Tim.

Pam: I leave my civics book to Debbie Jones.

Tina: I leave my locker and my parking space to Mavis.

Sheila: I leave my assigned seat on the bus to Laura and my "I really don't care" to Carla.

Shelli: I leave all my basketball stuff to Janice and my locker to Christie.

Coy: I leave my camera to Jeff A. if he can handle it and my driving to the Indy 500.

Randy: I leave my locker to Mary.

Goober: I leave nothing (I'm too greedy).

Leslie: I leave my civics book to Johnny W.

Linda: I leave my parking space on the faculty side to Darren and my ability to get in over my head to Diana.

James: I leave my pole vaulting poles to Terry A.

Jerry: I leave the good times this school gave me to Ronnie White.

Dennis: I leave my locker to Janet T.

Douglas: I leave my locker to Cindy D.

Frank: I leave my charm to Sheb and Darren.

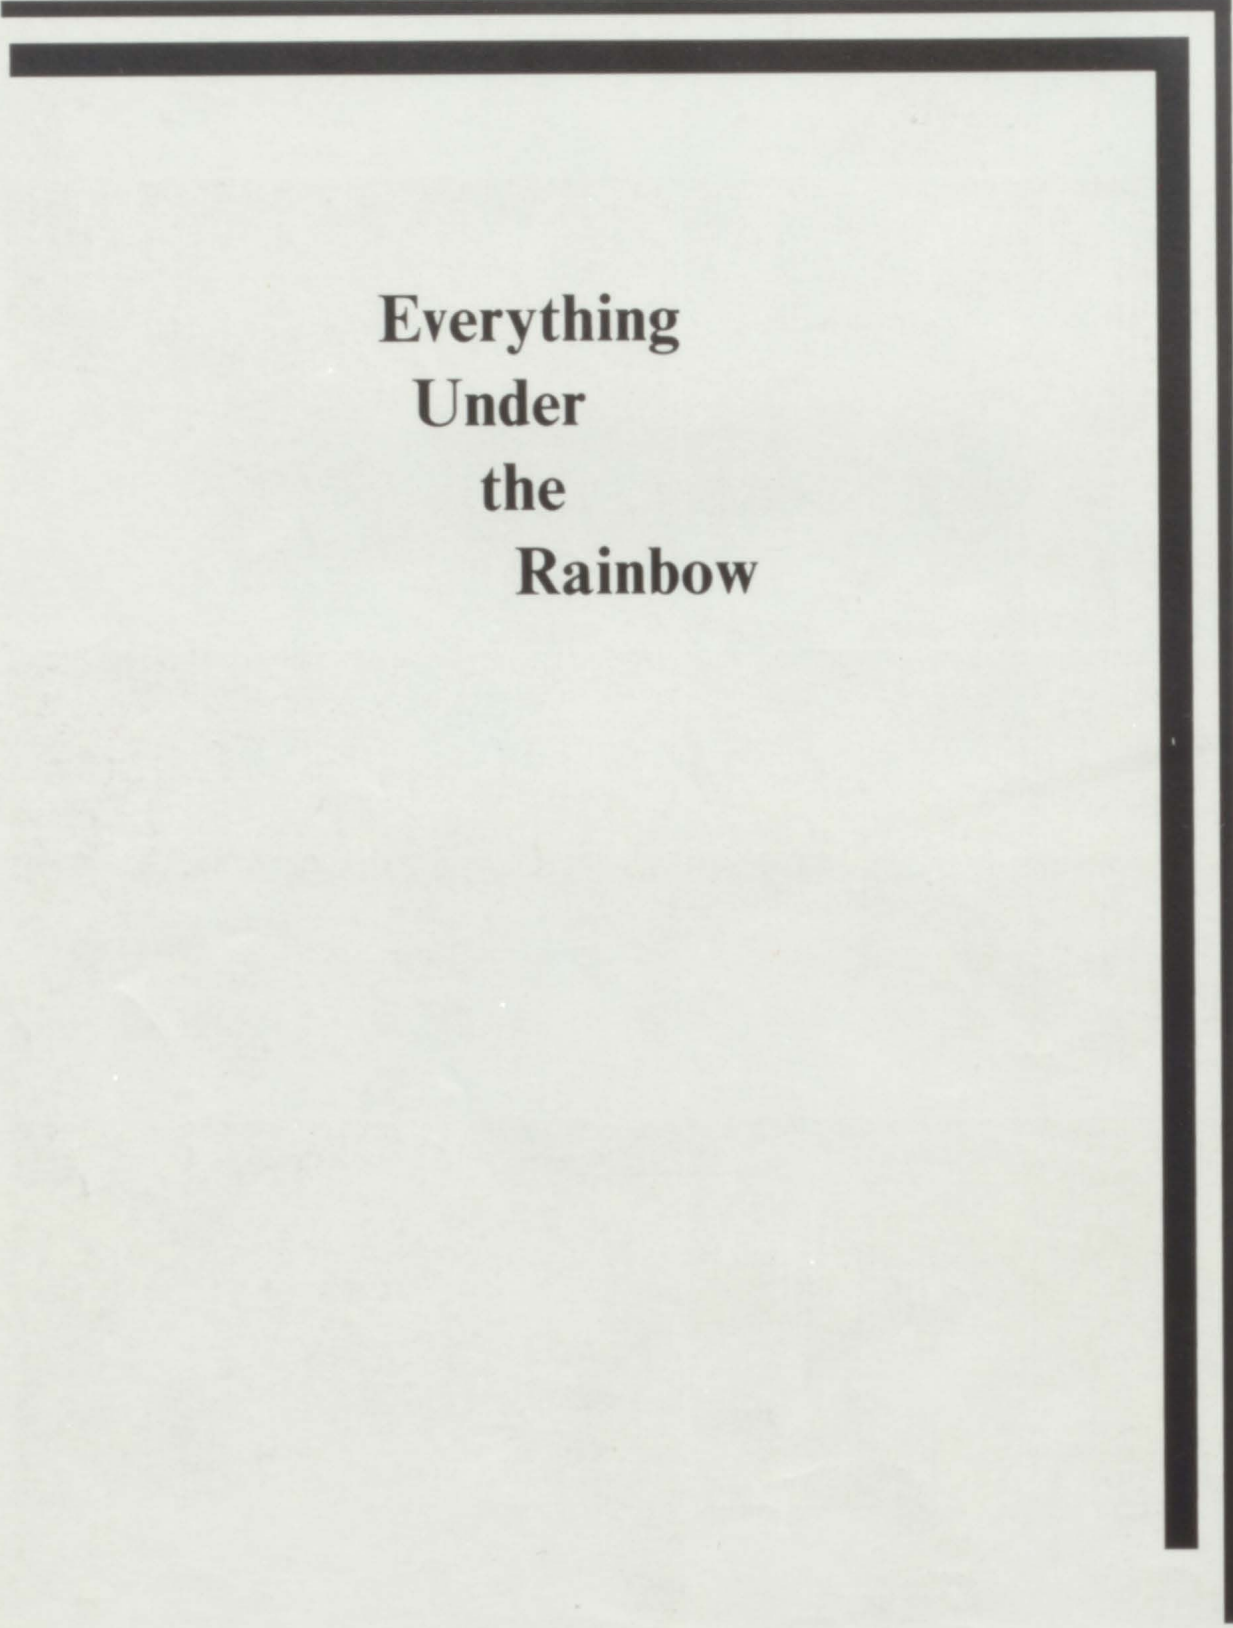

Linda/Sheila: We leave Diana a jelly donut and a cream puff.

Yearbook Seniors: We leave our deadlines and our headaches to whomever will be brave enough to work on the annual next year.

The Group: We leave the old building and a lot of good wishes to the future.

Looking Back Over the Rainbow

So we come to the end of the rainbow — the end of another school year. And the pot of gold, we find, is all the memories we have collected over this really unique year. We have graduated our first senior class, we have elected favorites and queens, we have passed and failed, we have laughed and cried. Some have gone and some have stayed, but memories are like roses pressed between the pages of time, and these memories will last forever. Here is one last look backwards at the 1981-82 year.
